DR. JAEGER'S Pure Sanitary Woolen Underwear

A great deal of the sickness prevalent during this cold spell could be prevented by wearing Dr. Jaeger's pure and sanitary woolen underwear.

It prevents ingress of draught at front or back and is of double thickness over chest. It keeps the skin at an equable warmth in any weather.

It is a common mistake that woolen underwear is not necessary in Hawaii. Perhaps in no other place in the world can light woolen undergarments be worn with more beneficial results. Dr. Jaeger's woolen underwear is endorsed by the world's leading physicians.

THEOSOPHIST LEADBEATER LECTURES AT THE YOUNG

CHARLES W. LEADBEATER.

Mr. Leadbeater of London, the eminent disciple of theosophy, spoke last evening to a Honolulu audience in the concert pavilion of the Alexander Young Hotel. The audience was large, comprising people from many of the churches of the city.

The lecturer entered the hall with Mrs. Hendricks, who has been one of the leading exponents of the cult in Honolulu, and to whom is due the present appearance of Mr. Leadbeater here. He was introduced by Mr. Young, president of the Theosophical Society. Mr. Leadbeater is a man of fine presence, his delivery being forceful and his enunciation extremely clear. He speaks in a way that makes abstruse things clear. He made an excellent impression and his future lectures will doubtless be as well attended as the first.

Mr. Leadbeater spoke last night on the "Results of Theosophy." He said, in part, as follows:

Theosophy is not a dogma for which we demand belief, but a system of philosophy which needs to be studied. Consequently any results which it produces are not of an emotional nature, but are the result of pure reasoning. Our study reveals to us the laws of nature, the laws under which we are living, and when we understand these it is obviously common sense to try to adapt ourselves to them and regulate our conduct intelligently in agreement with them.

When thoroughly comprehended it introduces so many changes into a man's life that it is not easy in an evening's lecture to give an idea of their extent. The best that can be done is to mention a few leading ideas.

First.—It enormously widens our outlook and gives us a broad, impersonal point of view from which to regard everything. The ordinary man looks at everything from a personal point of view, the first thing and often the only thing that he thinks about is how a certain occurrence is going to affect him; if he thinks of its effect on the community at large, it is only as an afterthought. Theosophy teaches us that the real interests of all are in truth identical, and that no man can ever make a real gain for himself at the cost of loss or suffering to someone else.

This is not taught as a pious belief, but is proved as a scientific fact. Naturally the man who knows this to be so finds his life considerably changed, and acts very differently from those who do not yet know it.

Second.—It gives men a criterion by which they can judge every thought and every action, whether it be their own or that of someone else. We simply ask, is the act for the good of humanity, and does it help forward evolution? If it does, then it is good and to be commended; if it does not, then it is useless or harmful.

Third.—It makes the sorrows of life seem far lighter and easier to bear. When we understand that whatever sorrow or suffering comes to us is exactly what we have deserved, and is furthermore an opportunity offered to us, by the right use of which we can develop good qualities within ourselves, all our difficulties and troubles begin to take on quite a new aspect.

Fourth.—It utterly removes from us the fear of death, because it teaches us exactly what death is. We realize that death is not the "King of Death," but rather an angel bearing a golden key; that to die is not to take a leap into the dark unknown, but simply to pass from one state of existence into another and a higher one. We are to remember that this is not a mere matter of belief, but a definite certainty based on knowledge, and capable of being verified by each man for himself if he is willing to take the necessary trouble.

Fifth.—It teaches us the marvellous power of thought, and the serious responsibility which attends upon its use. It shows us that a man's thoughts are constantly reacting upon him, and producing the most far-reaching effects; and in addition to that they are constantly also affecting other people as well.

Sixth.—It produces the widest tolerance, because it shows us that all religions alike are efforts to state different sides of the same great truth which lies behind them all. They may seem to be different paths, but they all lead to the same goal.

Seventh.—It gives the deepest sympathy and the most earnest, kindly feeling toward all men, because it shows that humanity is a vast spiritual brotherhood, although as yet men know it not. In all these ways and many more Theosophy entirely changes the man's conduct and his outlook on life, and it brings with it a serenity and happiness which no other knowledge can so fully afford. It asks no one to believe blindly but does ask men to study the system which has done so much for its followers, and to live the life which it teaches.

VARIOUS MATTERS IN THE COURTS

Joseph S. Canario has made answer to the complaint of Seeley I. Shaw for dissolution of partnership. He denies the allegations of refusal to account, of failure to keep proper books and of mismanagement. Further, he denies that on November 30, 1904, the outstanding indebtedness of the partnership business at Hilo and Puna amounted to the sum of $21,565.12, and that as a consequence the business can be carried on only at a permanent loss to both the complainant and defendant. Canario claims that he conducted the business skillfully and that in consequence it had been profitable to both partners until within a short time before the filing of the bill of complaint, when, by reason of general depression in the districts of South Hilo and Puna, the profits of the business had not exceeded or equaled the expenditures, but he says the depression is only temporary and both complainant and defendant are aware that the business can be carried on at a profit after the depression.

Other denials are that the defendant has received $10,000 more than his share of the partnership profits; and that there is real estate on the island of Hawaii belonging to the partnership.

A counter charge is made that the complainant has refused to account and the defendant prays for a winding up of the partnership and an accounting. Carl S. Smith is solicitor for defendant. The partnership does a liquor business at Hilo.

M. T. Simonton, master, has filed with Judge Robinson a report on the third annual account of F. W. Macfarlane, trustee of Georgiana Friel under the will of Adelia Cornwell. The account is found correct. It shows receipts of $811.62 and disbursements of $1318.02, leaving a balance of $506.40 due the trustee. There is interest overdue to Georgiana Friel of $726.25, of which $306.25 is on Royal Hawaiian Hotel Company bonds, and $420 on Mrs. K. L. Vida's note for $3500. An inventory of the estate shows a valuation of $18,700, of which $6500 is represented by the securities above shown in default for interest. There is $8000 in Pioneer Mill Company bonds and $500 in a Waiialua bond.

The final account of W. F. Allen, guardian of the Opfergelt minors, was approved by Judge Robinson, who also accepted the guardian's resignation and appointed the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company in his stead under a bond of $7000. At the date of Mr. Allen's resignation the estate of the minors consisted of $6824.38 in cash. The minors are Walter Ross Opfergelt, aged about 15, and Leonora Opfergelt, aged about 12 years.

Under the recent decision of the Supreme Court the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company elects to proceed upon its writ of error, instead of bill of exceptions, in appealing from the verdict against it of $3000 damages in favor of M. P. Ferreira.

A general denial is the answer of
